Upskill your staff with a Registered Apprenticeship Program!

Women in Registered Apprenticeships

Women continue to increase their participation in Registered Apprenticeships in MA. The latest data shows that 10 percent of the active apprentices are women in the union trades, while the number of women apprentices in the US increased 225 percent since 2014. We hope to increase that number in typically male dominated occupations, especially in the Advanced Manufacturing field. Apprenticeships provide women with access to high demand occupations, such as in the Healthcare sector.

MassHire Greater New Bedford Workforce Board can help you:

- Upskill your staff with on-the-job training;
- Secure additional funds for training and certifications*;
- Obtain State based RA tax incentives;
- Assist with applications and documentation every step of the way!
